

VOLUNTEERING
NORTH QUEENSLAND

Established since 1987

Annual Report

2017-2018

Serving our community for 31 years.

VISION

We are the leading volunteer hub in North Queensland providing a tailored and unique service while inspiring a community rich in volunteers and volunteering.

MISSION

To promote and support volunteer participation to empower individuals and organisations, and to enrich the North Queensland community.

HISTORY

1987

The Townsville Volunteers Bureau, first opened its doors. Funded by DEET, and operating under the guidance of the Townsville City Council it continued its service until 1988 when funding was channelled into other projects.

1989

A Public Meeting resolved that the Bureau reopen and be staffed by volunteers. DEET funding through Thuringowa Skillshare allowed the Bureau to provide training for the unemployed until 1992.

1993

Renamed Townsville Volunteers Inc. (TVI), the bureau became operational again with a three-year grant from the Commonwealth Department of Health Housing and Community Services. By the end of 1999, TVI had over 130 registered organisations on the books, and had placed over 500 volunteers in community organisations.

2015

Between 1993 and 2015, TVI underwent various name changes and moved premises several times as it continued to grow.

Current

Now known as Volunteering North Queensland Inc. (VNQ) and located in the Churches of Christ complex in Vincent. VNQ is run by a skilled & dedicated team of part time staff and volunteers as it continues to connect volunteers and provide training for many not-for-profit organisations in North Queensland.

President's Report

Well to my delight, I am proud to say this is by far the most exciting and productive year we have had in a long time.

In regards to sticking to our actions from the Strategic Plan 2016-2020, we are happy to say through the dedication of our newly appointed manager and volunteer staff we were able to address the following:

Goal 1: Succession Planning

- Procedures and policies for operational staff have been established and implemented so roles and responsibilities can be shared.
- Training and personal development of existing staff has been streamlined.
- Capability to analyse data from systems, particularly in relation to grant acquittals and needs analysis has been achieved.
- New revenue pathways have been achieved.
- The management committee has identified the need to set some clear internal KPIs, which include, but are not limited to, the adoption of clear policies and procedures, attracting and engaging with corporate businesses, finalising a marketing plan and working on a 3-year cash flow to enable VNQ to be “grant ready” for the next round of funding.

Goal 2: Profile of VNQ

- The return of a successful and well attended National Volunteer Week was one of the greatest achievements this year.
- Additional profiling was given to VNQ by the increase in attendance and promotion of VNQ at public events.

Goal 3: Embracing Technology

- Through Shane's leadership and expertise, VNQ has been transformed - expanding social media tools and engaging a broader demographic of potential volunteers.
- Additional in-house training enabled existing volunteers to make best use of technologies. The full implementation and training of the ASANA program was welcomed and will provide security of succession planning for not only events but the whole operational side of the business.

Goal 4: Membership

- This was the year of streamlining our membership processes. This included great engagement with stakeholders and identifying volunteer and organisational needs and finding solutions.
- New membership packages, including streamlined deliverables and additional value add for stakeholders, were presented.

Goal 5: Referrals and Training

- In order for the business to deliver on its core business, the referral process was streamlined and additional volunteers were trained to enable many volunteers to work on referrals.
- The VM Café has seen steady numbers of Volunteer Managers networking and engaging in topical discussions throughout the year.
- A full 12 month training calendar was publicised for 2018 with topics including Governance and digital marketing, the later of these being the most popular.
- Opportunity for further growth in training has been identified and prioritised in the next 12 months

Goal 6: Target groups

- This year, through new processes that have been put in place, we can now monitor, evaluate and report on our target groups. This will also help us into the future when we are lobbying for additional funding.

In closing - Management Committee's KPIs:

- The management committee is very excited about the future and has made a commitment to establish our own internal KPIs which will benefit VNQ into the future. These will be reported on at the next AGM.

To my fellow management committee members, I am so grateful for your support and commitment to VNQ and our city. I look forward to working with you all and welcoming some new faces to the team in 2018.

Manager's Report

The 2017/18 financial began with a change of leadership in September as I stepped into the role of Manager following Deb Haines' retirement.

Of first-priority was the consolidation of data and statistics for the purposes of reporting internally and to funding bodies. We have therefore been able to accurately observe steady volunteer referral growth following the implementation of new software, building the volunteer team and increased marketing activity this year.

A new training calendar began in January 2018 with three streams of training: NFP Governance, VM Café and Digital Marketing. The Digital Marketing stream has proven to be popular as well as the introduction of an additional session time outside of business hours. Participation across the training sessions continues to grow steadily.

The highlight of the year was the National Volunteer Week celebrations in May, at which we facilitated the inaugural NQ Volunteer of the Year Award. The event was a 'full house' with close to 120 volunteer managers and volunteers celebrating the efforts and impact of volunteers throughout our community.

The announcement of secured funding for the next 3.5 years was welcome news but also brings with it some challenges including a new reporting method, no indexation for inflation and the knowledge that the funding program is currently under review.

Following a year of consolidation, I believe that Volunteering NQ is positioned well to move into a new stage of expansion and to begin forming strategic partnerships that will make our volunteer referral services more accessible, grow training capacity and build alternative income streams.

In all of this, perhaps the greatest successes this year are the stories of our own volunteers, who have found confidence, learnt skills, enjoyed the companionship of others and even gained employment. It's not just a privilege to lead the team, but to see firsthand the difference volunteering makes.

Treasurer's Report

I am pleased to present the audited report for Volunteering North Queensland for the 2017/18 financial year.

Firstly, I would like to thank our previous bookkeeper Brian Letizia for his efforts in completing the revamp of our reporting process and wish him well for the future. I would also like to welcome to the team his replacement Helen Brown. Helen brings a wealth of experience with her and I am sure she will be an outstanding asset.

The 2017/18 Budget included a large growth in membership and Corporate income which didn't eventuate mainly as a result of the management restructure early in the year where the Development officer, who was to be the main driver behind this growth, became the Office manager where he was not able to devote the necessary time to the financial growth for it to achieve the desired outcome. There was also some large unbudgeted expenditures, $4k for National Volunteers Week, which had significant impact on the results.

While we achieved a much smaller operating surplus than budgeted we ended the year with a substantial gross profit due to having made provision, off budget, for Long Service and Annual Leave, and then paying it out of operations. The reversal of this money, set aside prior to the 2017/18 budget, back into the current budget resulted in the substantial profit shown.

We have entered into a number of MOU involving office sharing for the new-year which will allow us to about halve rent costs which are our biggest single expense. With our major income locked in for the year and positive growth in other areas we have adopted a budget with a substantial surplus to be allocated towards our ultimate aim of being self-sufficient.

As this large surplus came to light after we had adopted the 2018/19 Budget we could look at using it to finance activities that will grow our exposure to the general community or even generate more income.

Volunteering North Queensland is dependent upon the adequacy and security of the continued funding provided by the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet. Funding is approved annually and based on the achievement of previously agreed outcomes and objectives. At the date of this report, funding from the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet had been approved until 2017/2018 financial year and there has been no evidence to suggest that further funding under this program will not continue into the future.
